Ugly Rumor About.
An ugly rumor in circulation tonight asserted that at a secret meeting of the Boston firemen's union this afternoon 75 per cent of the members voted to strike in sympathy with the police. The union officers refused to reveal what action the meeting took. It was stated that if the rumor is true, Governor Coolidge will request the navy to send 1,000 marines to fill the firemen's places.

Labor leaders believed that President Gompers will arrive late tonight for the early morning session of the Central Labor Union. John McInnes, president of the Police Union, and the Federation representative, Frank McCarthy, are to confer with him before he leaves. The latter is regarded as a man to grant Mr. Gompers an interview, but it is considered equally probable that he will not withdraw from the uncompromising attitude he has maintained throughout the strike.

The message strikes a new note in reconstruction plans of the church, and while sent especially to the Central Verein, is taken as a message to all the Catholics in America. The full text of the message, transmitted by Cardinal Gasparri, secretary of state at the Vatican, follows:

"From the Vatican:
"Department of State of His Holiness.
"To the Most Rev. Monsignor George William Mundelein, Chicago.
"Most Reverend Archbishop:
"The information has come to the Holy Father that the Central Verein, after a long and arduous struggle by the war, will soon meet again in the city of Chicago.

"This information has been received with the greatest satisfaction by the sovereign pontiff who is well acquainted with the splendid merits of its work. At the same time he is deeply grieved that the war has not yet ended, and that your worthy President, Mr. Frey, whom he has pleased Almighty God to call to his eternal reward, is still in the city of Chicago.

"And now that the Central Verein takes up its labor anew, the sovereign pontiff desires to pay to the Central Verein, in the name of the Holy Father, a tribute to the loyalty of the German-Americans to the United States during the war.

"His Holiness has no doubt whatever that such a bright future is in store for the Central Verein, and that the German-Americans have given proof of an every occasion, and that they will continue to do so. He has no doubt whatever that the Central Verein will continue to do so. He has no doubt whatever that the Central Verein will continue to do so.

"All of this I am pleased to communicate to your grace while with sincere affection and devotion, and with the assurance of my prayers for the success of your work.

COULD NOT NECESSARY WHEN ENERGY FOUND

Noted British Scientist Asserts Fuel Is Locked in Atoms of Matter.

OUNCE COULD LIFT NAVY

Sir Oliver Lodge Claims That Discoveries Will Be Dangerous and Says There Is an Abundant Store Available.

(By Universal Service.)
LONDON, Sept. 14.—A pinch of coal dust, or dust of any other substance, at present the most valuable form of power, if the whole of the energy resulting from this, when combined with oxygen, could be really utilized, would yield quite a considerable store.

An ounce of oil completely burnt would heat between six and seven pounds of water from freezing to boiling, which is the equivalent of 110 foot-pounds. A ton falling a height of 410 feet would generate the same amount of heat.

An ounce of coal completely burnt would yield slightly less energy. A pound of coal, when burnt, represents a considerable store of energy, though of rather a violent and instantaneous kind.

But there is any kind of energy locked up not in the molecule, nor in the atom, but in the nucleus of the atom. The nucleus of the atom is a very small, dense, positively charged body, which is the source of the atom's energy.

When it is first observed that a great deal of energy is contained in a small space, it is not surprising that it should be found that the energy is contained in the nucleus of the atom.

Five Baby Rescued From New Grave

Clinton, Mass. Police Chief Answers Phone Call Just in Time.

(By Universal Service.)
CLINTON, MASS., Sept. 14.—"How this chief," came a voice over the telephone as Chief of Police Jack Magee answered a ring. "Well, if I were you I'd rustle right down to 50 Clark Street with a spade and dig a bit in the back yard."

"Wadded," mean dig in a "back yard," demanded Chief Magee. "This here ain't a miner's office."

"You won't find any gold or coal by digging, but you will find something that'll get in the newspapers," came the voice. "Suit yourself, but I've given you the tip."

Magee pondered the rattle for five hours before taking the advice and a spade to the back yard. Applying the spade to a little mound of freshly turned earth he dug up, at a depth of which he found a paper bag, in which he found five dead baby girls, naked and apparently dead. But when he had hustled around to Dr. George Tobey's office with the baby, Magee heard a tiny wail. The baby was alive, although it had been buried for hours.

"Lucky," she was and buried deep, and that the earth hadn't been stirred down," said Dr. Tobey. "She didn't die until just after being born, and enough to keep her going. But you were just about in time."

The baby was taken to 50 Clark Street, where Helen Sullivan, seventeen, admitted the baby was hers. "I buried it in the yard," she said, "and it was just about in time."

Up and at present inaccessible, in every corner of the city.

Once could lift Navy. A little arithmetic would enable us to paraphrase the late Sir William Crookes and say that if all the energy in the universe were concentrated in a single point, it would be enough to lift the German navy and the British navy together.

Sir Ernest Rutherford reckons that the gaseous emanation primarily given off by a gram of radium is equivalent to a shot—this emanation being itself a chemical element called Niton—is so powerful that it can lift a gram of radium to a height of 10,000 feet.

Indubitably, if the progress of discovery ever comes to a halt, the energy locked up in a ton of ordinary matter per diem, no further more, would be enough to lift the world.

And if, further, we found ourselves able to liberate any considerable portion of the energy of a short period of time, the explosive violence would be such that the very planet would be torn to pieces.

Discovery Will Be Dangerous. It is to be hoped that no such facilities will fall to the lot of an enterprising scientific nation until it is ready to use them for the benefit of both willing and unwilling, and to keep the destructive power in check. Humanity is not ripe for every discovery, but in due time, when it is ripe, it will be used for the benefit of the world.
